HUGS FROM HAWAII

When Bob and I lived on the island of Oahu in Hawaii, we inhaled the beauty of the ocean and mountains each day. Somehow, upon our return, the horizon seemed brighter. One of the things that we'd missed most are the double rainbows; they're simply breathtaking. We are always so grateful that the Lord allowed us to live in Hawaii for ten years. God brought many long-lasting friends into our lives. Recently, while visiting Oahu, we had an opportunity to meet with several of them. It was our plan to try and schedule as many lunches and dinners with our friends as possible. Believe me, we ate our way through Waikiki, the North Shore and other parts of the Island. As emissaries of light, when we arrived in Hawaii, we bound the forces of darkness that would try and encroach on this beautiful land.

Soon after the day of our arrival, friends Anna Lee Christensen and Bonnie

Heim treated us to goodies at Starbucks on the Windward side of the Island. There was lots of conversation and catching up before driving downtown for the Friday Street Faire. Maile Anderson met us near St. Andrews Church near the State Capital. We were surprised to end up taking a walking tour down to the River of Life Mission, throughout Chinatown and to a bustling church in the area before we said our farewells.

Saturday, we attended service with Lee at New Hope Christian Church. Associate Pastor El, preached a wonderful message designed to help the Body of Christ grow deep and strong. Surprisingly, we ran into our friends David and Judy Moody among a throng of several hundred people. God saw fit to place them only two rows behind us.

Sunday morning was a highlight of our visit. We so looked forward to
